"What a nice day!"

The amazing Spider-Man swings over the city on his webbing.

Suddenly...

"Oh, oh! Crooks!"

"I'll get the drop on them, Spidey-style!"

"Grab Spidey, gang!"

"I'm too quick to be caught!"

"That's what you think, smart guy!"

"That's what I know!"

But the Green Goblin is secretly watching and waiting!

"Spider-Man beat me before, but this time I'll win!"

"I've spent months preparing for today!"

"I'll ruin Spider-Man by unmasking him!"

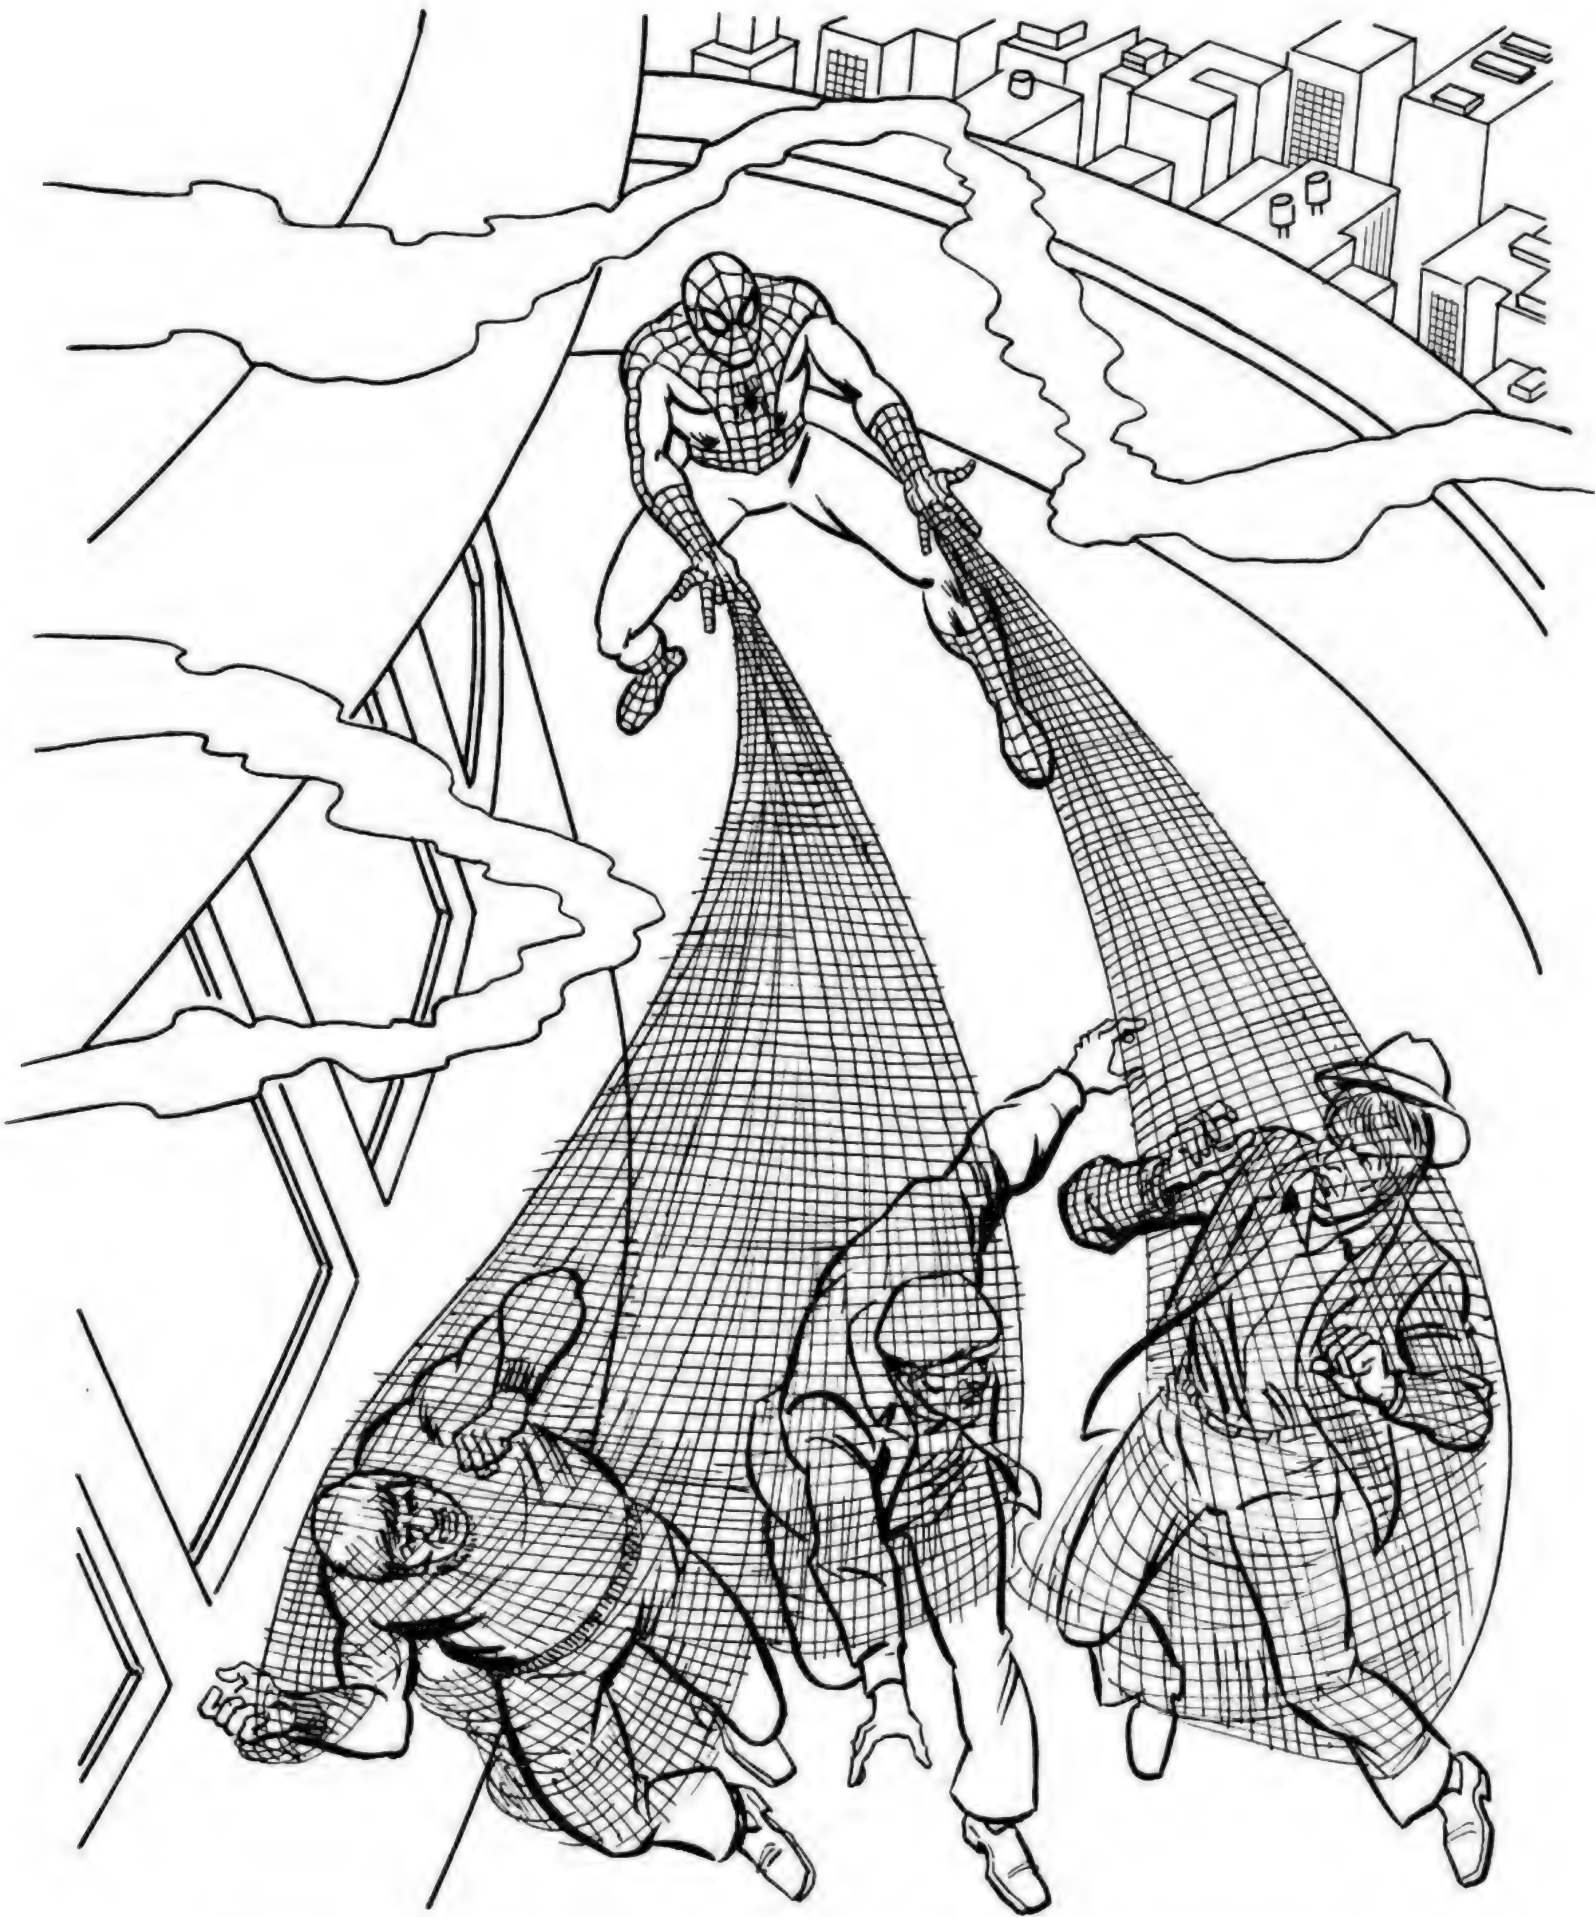

"Take a whiff of this gas!"

"Hey! The gas didn't stop him!" say the surprised crooks.

"Too bad — for you! Now to wrap you up for the police!"

Way to go,
Spider-Man!

"My job is done, now it's time to leave!"

As Spidey changes into his secret identity, Peter Parker, he thinks,
"Why was that gas worthless?"

While, above: "Ha! Ha! That gas lets me track Spidey! Now I'll discover who he is!"

"Why is he going into that newspaper office?"

"I've got some good photos of Spidey to sell! Do you want to print them in your newspaper?"

"Okay, Peter Parker — I'll buy them!" says the paper's publisher.

"So — Spidey's real name is Peter Parker! Soon, I'll have him!"

Peter goes to visit his Aunt May . . .

"Hello, Aunt May!"

"Peter, you wonderful boy! Give me a hug!"

"Have some milk and cookies, you dear boy!"

"Aunt May, you're just too good to me."

"Oh, my! I think I hear someone sneaking around outside!"

"I'll go out and see, Aunt May."

"Something's wrong — but what?" wonders Peter.

"Your Spider-Sense is gone, fool!"

"My gas stole your power! And I know you and Spider-Man are the same!"

"I'm going to tell the world! And there's nothing you can do to stop me!"

"We'll see about that, Green Goblin!"

"Fool! I'm not playing games!"

"Nothing will stop me from totally defeating you!"

"I'll tie you up with steel cables. . .

"Then I'll show you something no one else has seen — my own face!"

"Oh, no! You're Norman Osborn — the father of my best friend, Harry!"

"But why would you, a rich man, turn to crime?"

"It's hard working to get to the top — and even harder to stay there. It cost me everything!"

"Then, one day, there was an accident!"

I'm afraid there's brain damage!

"Others thought I was sick! But I know the truth — I'm the greatest villain in the world!"

"I've got to save Harry's dad from himself!"

"I've got a great idea!" says Peter. "I'll fight you fair and square!"

"Put on your costume! It is Spider-Man whom I will destroy!"

"You want a fight, you got it!"

"You forgot my Goblin goodies — and this is only the beginning!"

"He's firing rays from his finger blasters!"

"Oh, no! His ray hit that equipment!"

"The Goblin — Osborn! Is he all right?"

Who... are you?

"He doesn't remember... that he was the Green Goblin or that Spider-Man is really Peter Parker!"

"My secret is safe! Now, to make sure Harry's dad gets a second chance to do right, I'm taking him to the hospital!"

"There! Now to go home for some more of Aunt May's milk and cookies!"
